

SPLENDID

Address Delivered By The Rev. Milford H. Lyon

At The Baptist Church On Monday Evening

Speaker Greeted By An Immense Audience

And Heartily Applauded As He Began To Speak

The Subject Of His Lecture Was "The Great Crusade"

It was a splendid audience that welcomed Rev. Milford H. Lyon, the noted evangelist, back to Mt. Vernon on Monday evening. The First Baptist church was crowded to its utmost capacity and many were compelled to stand during the entire services.

Rev. Lyon arrived in the city on the 1:20 afternoon train from Urbana and was entertained at the home of Rev. and Mrs. F. E. Brininstool, although he took dinner Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hunt with whom he roomed during his stay in Mt. Vernon two years ago.

"The Great Crusade" was the subject of the lecture delivered by Rev.
Mr. Lyon on Monday evening and as he stepped forth to speak he was applauded for several minutes by the large audience.

The speaker took for his text, Luke 9:23:

"If any man will come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross daily and follow me."

He spoke in part as follows:
"It is always the inspiration of a great purpose that separates the extraordinary man from the ordinary.
I would rather have a man of small talent imbued with a great motive than the biggest brain void of high ideals. The poet Whittier gave this advice to his friends, 'Early in Life,' said he, 'identify yourself with some great but then unpopular reform.' The greatest lack in the average life today is the want of a strong and sufficient motive."

It was the message of Peter the Hermit that created and crystallized the popular sentiment of all Europe. In a peculiar sense such men are the greatest characters of history, for it is they who make history. Back of laws and legislatures, back of kings and governors, is that power behind the throne, which molds the character of law and aways the scepter of state, the power of public opinion. Lawmakers do little to mold this, they are molded by it. There can be no greater human ambition than a desire to be a creator of the right kind of popular sentiment. Its beginning is often almost imperceptible. It is like the snow ball that starts from the summit down the mountainside, increasing in size and swiftness as it goes, until it becomes a great avalanche, swift and resistless in its power.

Rev. Mr. Lyon then took up the Crusades in the early centuries and gave a description of each. Continuing of Crusades he said:

The Crusades were heralds of the great Crusade which began twenty centuries ago, beginning with the proclamation of our great Captain—"If any man would come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me." This embraces man's threefold relation—to himself, to his fellow man, and to his God. It comprehends the three greatest motives that can promote and inspire the human heart. Sacrifice, service, and obedience.

If we possess sacrifice, like the true mother we will lose our life in our mission. The world is constantly advertising to sell out at a sacrifice; but this sacrifice is usually for the other fellow.

In this crusade there must be the spirit of service, the taking up of our cross. It means self crucifixion. The old nature must be nailed to the cross, the old pride and indulgence and selfish ambitions. It takes all there is of a man to be a Christian.

Why did not Christ say take up the sword? Multitudes will wield the sword but will not bear the cross. You take the sword to gain your rights. You take the cross to fulfill your duties.
The sword is external, the cross must be a matter of the inner life. Here is the fundamental difference between Mohammedanism and Christianity; one was promoted by compulsion, the other by kindness; the one is victory of conquest, the other of character.

There are many fields for service in every department of life. We can improve the material and physical conditions. Last winter in Chicago 30, 000 children attended the public school from day to day with scarcely enough food to keep them from starving.

Then there is the work of promoting the intellectual welfare in our schools and colleges. Great credit is due the school teacher who puts her soul into her work and comes out at the close of the year pale and careworn. Let us hope the time will come when our niggardly policy for compensation will be abandoned and the salary of teachers will be continued through the entire year.

Still more important is the training of children in the home. We have schools for the training of artists, stenographers, scientists and musicians. Why not for the fitting of motherhood? If a mother dies, the state will provide a place for the children in an orphan asylum. Way not do more to keep the mother from dying and restore her to life?

And what shall we say of the great work of bringing together the homeless children and the abolishing of child labor in mines and factories? Oh, that we might hear, as Mrs.
Browning has said, "The cry of the children." May we do something for them, like the brave senator from Indiana who has been striving for several sessions to get a bill through congress to free the 200,000 children under 14 years of age that are working in the mines and factories of America.

Then there is the great black scourge, the social evil, the organized white slave traffic, with a leader called the Big Chief that has its agents scattered over every section of our country. It is bringing thousands into a slavery beside which the bondage of the negroes was glorious freedom.

In like manner the battle is on all over our land against the liquor traffic. Between it and the church there can be no compromise. It is a battle to the death, one or the other must go down.

The great Crusade is on. Godfrey, Bouillon, Richard Coeur de Leon and Raymond of Toulouse, have passed away. No longer does the band of the castled Rhine and the storied Danube echo with the hymns and shouts of the Crusaders. But to us God has given a far greater mission. Not to rescue the empty tomb of a dead Christ, but under the leadership of the living, reigning Son of God, the Prince Imperial of heaven, to go forth upon a mission of salvation and sacrifice to a needy world."

At the conclusion of the lecture the audience assembled in the basement of the church where Rev. Mr. Lyon held a short reception, shaking hands with all present and renewing many old acquaintances.

Evangelist Lyon left Tuesday morning for Urbana where he is in his third week of evangelistic meetings.

Fully nine of every ten cases of rheumatism is simply rheumatism of the muscles due to cold or damp, or chronic rheumatism, neither of which require any internal treatment.

KILLED

By A C. A. & C. Train Near Barberton

Was A Resident Of Fredericksburg, O.

(Wooster News)

Robert Fitch, a young Fredericksburg man employed at the Fredericksburg Pottery Co., was killed Saturday night, just south of Barberton by a C.
A. & C. train. The accident was witnessed by no one, and the manner of his death is not known. The body was badly mangled, the head being crushed.

Friday afternoon Fitch decided to go to Barberton to visit with friends.
The force of hands at the pottery had not been having steady work, and he knew he would be idle until Monday.
He left Fredericksburg Friday, going to Barberton. Saturday evening he intended to come home. At 11 o'clock Saturday night his body was found along the railroad track, the head being badly crushed.

There were many stories in circulation at Fredericksburg after the body had been brought home Monday morning. As he had little money on his person, the theory that he was killed and his body thrown upon the railroad track to hide the crime, seems to have little foundation.

Whether he was riding a freight train is not known. The body was found just a short distance south of Barberton and it is possible that he was killed while trying to climb upon a moving train. Fitch, who is a son of Alex Fitch, has lived in Fredericksburg all his life. He was about 30 years old and unmarried.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver tablets are safe, sure and reliable, and have been praised by thousands of women who have been restored to health through their gentle aid and curative properties. Sold by all dealers.

M'ELROY

Goes On Duty At Night As Lieutenant Of Police

Mayor Mitchell announced a change in arrangement in the police department Tuesday morning. Heretofore the day force has consisted of Chief of Police Dermody and Officer McElroy, but the new plan places Officer McElroy on the night force with the title of lieutenant, which up to this time has been held by Officer Hough. This new arrangement will go into effect Tuesday evening. Hereafter Chief of Police Dermody will be the only officer on duty during the day.
